Also Awarded 'Best Performing CFO in the Infrastructure & Power Sector'

Mr. R. Shankar Raman, L&T's Chief Financial Officer, has won the prestigious 'CFO of the Year' Award presented by the leading business channel CNBC TV18.

Mr. Shankar Raman received the award from Mr. Sachin Pilot, Union Minister of State for Corporate Affairs, at a high profile ceremony in Mumbai yesterday.

Mr. Shankar Raman accepts the CFO of the Year Award from Mr. Sachin Pilot in the presence of Mr. A.M. Naik, Executive Chairman, L&T.

The CNBC TV18 CFO of the Year Awards are among the most coveted in the financial community. They honour “the best minds in finance that have steered their organizations through the choppy waters of the economic downturn”.

The citation highlights the contribution of Chief Financial Officers to not only ensure the success of their own organization but raise India's professional stature to global levels. The award gains special significance in the light of the challenging macro-economic situation that has tested accepted wisdom and compelled CFOs to re-invent their roles.

Accepting the Award, Mr. Shankar Raman attributed his success to his high caliber team and reiterated the Company's commitment to meeting the challenges ahead.
