

Mr. A.M. Naik Honoured with CNBC TV18 'Infrastructure Leader of the Year' Award

L&T Hydrocarbon Bags 'Infrastructure Excellence Award'

Mr. A.M. Naik's role as leader of India's premier infrastructure company and his contribution to nation building found affirmation once again as leading business channel CNBC TV18 honoured him with the prestigious 'Infrastructure Leader of the Year' award.

The award was presented at a ceremony in New Delhi on May 08, 2012. Mr. Naik received the award from the Chief Guest, Mr. Kamal Nath, Union Minister for Urban Development.

Mr. Naik received several encomiums, and was described as 'a living legend in the infrastructure space'. Accepting the award, Mr. Naik said L&T would continue to augment its capabilities to play a leading role in the development of this crucial sector.

In a further honour for the Company, L&T Hydrocarbon business was presented the Infrastructure Excellence Award for the successful execution of the world's longest heated and insulated pipeline from Barmer in Rajasthan to Salaya in Gujarat. This award was received by Mr. K. Ravindranath, EVP, Hydrocarbon - Mid & Downstream, and Mr. T. Chinnappa, EVP, Hydrocarbon Construction & Pipelines, L&T.

Above: Mr. A.M. Naik accepts Infrastructure Leader of the Year Award from the Union Minister, Mr. Kamal Nath. Below: Mr. K. Ravindranath and Mr. T. Chinnappa receive the Infrastructure Excellence Award.

The prestigious awards instituted by Network 18, acknowledge the achievements of 'nation builders'. They showcase exceptional projects and recognise companies for their contribution in the field of infrastructure development.

The awards jury comprised a high powered panel including senior bureaucrats and leading professionals in the infrastructure space.