AMN Conferred E&Y's Lifetime Achievement Award

Ernst & Young, one of the world's leading management consultancies, has conferred its coveted Lifetime Achievement Award on our Group Chairman Mr A M Naik.

Reading out the citation, Marico Chairman Mr Harsh Mariwala described Mr Naik as “the nationalist business leader, and one of the best living examples of professionalism, commitment and entrepreneurship”. The citation said that AMN built L&T “into a technology powerhouse and one of India’s best-known companies through decades of blood, sweat, and tears”. Hailing his commitment to the organisation, the citation said, “Mr Naik belongs to the rare group of business executives who dedicate their lives to the companies they work at.”

CEO & MD Mr S N Subrahmanyam accepted the award on behalf of AMN who was unable to attend the glittering function held on 12 April in Mumbai.

In his speech, SNS said that he was humbled to have been chosen to accept the award on AMN's behalf. He spoke of the stellar role AMN has played in making L&T one of the largest organisations in this part of the world, and said we are making every effort to follow his lead. He also spoke of AMN's philanthropic work undertaken in skilling, education and health by the Trusts he set up - the Naik Charitable Trust and the Nirali Memorial Medical Trust.

This is the second occasion when AMN has been honoured by E&Y, having received the 'Manager Entrepreneur of the Year' award in 2008.

In a recorded video message, AMN thanked E&Y for creating this prestigious series of awards that “promotes professional excellence and encourages top-calibre talent to take further its celebrated mission of building a better working world.” He said the award would inspire him to push himself further in the service of the nation, community and country.

The series this year honoured the “unstoppables who have what it takes to unlock new opportunities during these unprecedented times”. The winners were selected by a nine-member jury panel comprising some of India's most eminent business leaders.
