

L&T Wins Award for ‘Company with Best CSR & Sustainability Practices-2011’

L&T's CSR initiatives were again in the limelight as it bagged the award for ‘Company with the Best CSR and Sustainability Practices’ by the Asian Centre for Corporate Governance and Sustainability.

The award was presented at the 11th International Conference of the Centre in Mumbai on February 11, 2011. It was received on behalf of L&T by Mr. R.N. Mukhija, Advisor to the Chairman, and passionate champion of L&T's CSR initiatives. Accepting the award on behalf of Team L&T,

Mr. Mukhija said social responsibility “was part of the DNA of the organisation”. Citing specific instances, he mentioned the skill building imparted by L&T to socially disadvantaged youth at its Construction Skills Training Institutes, employee volunteering through the growing band of ‘L&T-eers’ and the remarkable work being done by the spouses of L&T-ites under the aegis of ‘Ladies Clubs’.

A citation from the Asian Centre described L&T as an engineering giant associated with nation building that ‘makes India proud’. It said that the company's technological and business accomplishments were supported by transparency and accountability at all levels.

Mr. R.N. Mukhija (left) receives the award from Mr. S. Ramadorai, Vice Chairman of Tata Consultancy Services, and Chairman, Conference & Awards Committee of the Asian Centre. Looking on is Mr. M.K. Chouhan, Vice Chairman of the Global Advisory Board of the Asian Centre.